MONDAY EVENING, FEBR'Y. 16.

A $3,000,000 FORTUNE ON LONG ISLAND. Report reaches us, says the Glen Cove Gazette, that Fortune is about to shower its richest favors on several industrious and worthy citizens of this place, representing the family of Merritt. It seems that a brother of the grandfather of Samuel and Washington Merritt, of this village, leased to one of the towns in Westchester county a tract of land, of about three square miles, for the term of ninety-nine years. The owner, Merritt, died, leaving one son, who collected the rents up to three years ago, when he also died. The lease expired about one year ago, and the authorities recently advertised in the New York papers for the heirs. A family of Merritts in New York made claim to the property, but utterly failed to make it good and now it is established beyond question that the Merritts of this village are the rightful and only heirs. The brothers who settled in this village left four sons and one daughter, named John, Samuel, George Washington, Willett and Eliza Ann. Of these John died without issue. Willett was killed at a barn raising, a heavy stick of timber crushing him to death, leaving a widow and several children in indigent circumstances, who will of course share in the general distribution of the vast fortue. Samuel is the well-known hard working and thrifty mason. George Washington is a farmer and was recently elected game constable of this town. Eliza Ann is the wife of George Westervelt, the boatman and bayman. As these heirs will realize about $500,000 each it will place them among the wealthiest of our residents, and congratulations pour in upon them with such profuseness as to be quite overpowering, but they do not seem to be at all puffed up by it, but plod along in their customary ways as if nothing more than usual had hap-

THE WHEAT CROP. - The wheat erop in this county is looking quite promising-more so than for years past at this season. Our accounts from the Valley, Eastern, and South-Western Virginia are highly favorable and encouraging. From present indications we have reason to liope that our next harvest will prove the most bountiful we have had for years. prove the most bountiful we have had for years. A fine wheat crop would do much for the relief of our people. - Lexington Gazette.
